* Chris Jesty trained as a cartographer with the Ordnance Survey. Among other panoramas, in the 1970s he surveyed and drew a spectacular cartographical rendition of the 360° view from the peak of Snowdon in Wales (click here). Now in Kendal in the Lake District, he has over many years (of walking with a GPS in hand!) completely revised Wainwright's Pictorial Guide to the Lakeland Fells. A summary of his work can be found here.
